In this laboratory work we made student list as in lab3, and implemented data access object pattern.

I used Java GUI, to provide form which implements basic functions for create/edit/delete records.

For database I user Mysql Server.

And Hibernate Framework for implementing ORM pattern.

Everything is similar to lab3, except StudentDAO.class which implements main methods need for interaction with database, as access to db, select through SQL queries and etc...